GALLERIES

The World's Largest Inventory of Collectible
Stocks and Bonds. Over 6 Million Pieces.

FINANCIAL HISTORY IS EXCITING AND FUN!!

We Present Our 6th Wholesale Catalog.

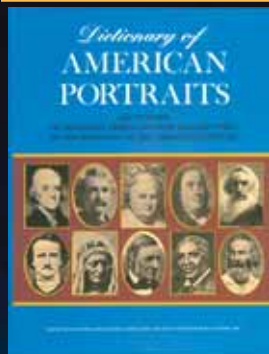

This wholesale catalog offers you quite a nice selection of stocks and bonds. Pieces with a "story" are always most popular. Of course, pretty much anything with exceptional graphics sells well. In addition, collecting by state is becoming more and more prevalent. The offerings start with an introduction to dealing or marketing stocks and bonds. New dealers and marketing companies are welcome to ask for suggestions and sample groups. All items in this catalog are priced at reasonable to very low wholesale levels. Some are offered at "Special Wholesale Prices" and highlighted with a starburst.

QUESTIONS? PLEASE ASK FOR GEORGE. I'm always happy to hear from our customers. Our fine inventory of Stocks & Bonds as well as books, albums, and supplies will make dealing fun and exciting!!! 800 717-9529 George LaBarre IMPORTANT: We are hoping that you will add your own expertise in selling Stocks and Bonds as collectibles, corporate gifts, premiums, and incentives, possibly by direct mail, cable TV promotions, or over the Internet.

Manuscript Society: Autograph collectors are encouraged to become members of this fine organization. www.manuscript.org

CAN YOU SELL COLLECTIBLE STOCKS & BONDS?

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT STOCKS AND BONDS TO DECIDE WHETHER YOU CAN SELL THEM...

★ HISTORY: Financial history is exciting and fun. Stocks and Bonds were used in colonial times, early shipping, railroads, throughout the Industrial Revolution, into the automotive age, the Crash of 1929, and all through the past decades of economic growth. We can enjoy this rich history in collecting Stocks and Bonds. These documents are truly pieces of history and of great educational value.

★ ART: Engraved printing of Stocks and Bonds by American Banknote, Franklin Lee Banknote, International Banknote, etc., are considered serious art. They decorate dens, offices, boardrooms, and corporate headquarter buildings.

★ FUN: Most importantly, collecting stocks and bonds is "FUN" and most satisfying.

★ TREASURE HUNTING APPEAL: Collecting Stocks and Bonds is still so new, one can say "it is still in its infancy". As a result, there are bargains and little treasures to be found. This is a fresh, new vibrant hobby!

★ VALUE: Back in 1981, the most valuable collectible stock sold for $3,000. This same railroad stock signed by Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt now sells for $12,000. Stocks currently sell for as much as $150,000. Compare this record price to other collectibles. Single coins have sold for over $4 Million. A stamp can sell in the Million dollar range. Autographs have sold for over a Million Dollars. One could conclude that quality collectible Stocks and Bonds represent very good value in today's market.

★ RARITY: Stocks and Bonds are becoming very difficult to find. Most of our inventory was acquired 10 to 20 years ago. Demand has grown steadily over the years as supply has gone down. It has taken 20 years to build these collections that we can now offer.

★ VARIETY: Collecting topics offer something for every taste.. Railroads, Automotive, Aviation, Mining, Oils, Communications, Insurance, Banking and Autographs. Stocks and Bonds can be collected by state, city, or region.

CHICAGO, BURLINGTON & QUINCY RR
AF1. IL, 1880's-1901, Stock. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, the official name of the Burlington Route, started from humble beginnings Feb. 12, 1849 in Aurora, IL. The Aurora Branch Railroad was laid with secondhand strap iron spiked to 12 miles of wooden rails. By 1864, the railroad had 400 miles of track - all in Illinois. Burlington's rapid expansion after the Civil War was based upon sound financial management, dominated by John Murray Forbes of Boston and assisted by Charles E. Perkins. Perkins was a powerful administrator who eventually forged a system out of previously loosely-held affiliates, virtually tripling Burlington's size during his presidency from 1881 to 1901. The name also had staying power, for it lasted 106 years until the Burlington Northern merger in 1970. Great train vignette! Set of 3 $60 or Singles $25

NEW YORK, ONTARIO & WESTERN Rwy
AF23. NY, 1907, $5,000 4% Gold Bond. The New York & Oswego Midland Railroad, was the grandiose vision of Dewitt C. Littlejohn, a dynamic politician bearing an uncanny resemblance to Abraham Lincoln. His concept of a direct rail route northwest across New York State, serving virgin territory not reached by any existing line, seemed logical. Thus in 1868 the "Midland" began building, meandering this way and that to reach the towns which had put up money for its construction. Its twisting route was built "at right angles to the mountains" requiring steep grades, high bridges and enormous fills. Construction costs far exceeded estimates, and within a month of completion the Midland was bankrupt. But it survived, and was reorganized in 1880 as the New York, Ontario & Western Railway. Franklin Bank Note Co., NY. Great! $30

In June, 1887, the St. Louis, Alton & Springfield Railroad Company was organized, with power to build extensions from Newbern to Alton, and from Bates to Springfield, which was done. Nicknamed "the Bluff Line" in October, 1890, a receiver was appointed, followed by a reorganization under the name St. Louis, Chicago & St. Paul. Homer Lee Bank Note Co., NY. Many coupons at right. Truly Exceptional!!! $100

UTICA & BLACK RIVER RR
AF25. NY, 1890, $1,000 4% Gold Bond. In 1861 the Black River & Utica reorganized and became the Utica & Black River Railroad. The U&R ran its Road from Utica north to Philadelphia by February, 1873. American Bank Note Co., NY. Exceptional! $50

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD-WHOLESALE

Perhaps no other industry in the history of America captures the adventurous spirit embodied in capitalism quite like that of the railroad. The completion of the Northern Pacific as America's second trans-continental railroad offers no better example of the triumph of the entrepreneurial spirit in the face of overwhelming odds. In 1864, President Abraham Lincoln signed into law the Northern Pacific's charter making it the beneficiary of the largest government railroad land grant in American history. This grant would eventually include over forty million acres and a vast extinguishment of Indian land titles. The original incorporators, led by the tireless advocate Josiah Perham, set out to link Lake Superior to Puget Sound. It would take nearly twenty years and countless heartaches and setbacks until the final spike completing the line was ceremoniously driven on September 8, 1883 fifty-five miles west of Helena, Montana.

FREDERICK BILLINGS

"Billings was honored by a resolution that authorized placing an engraved portrait on the company's stock certificates. He accepted the compliment, declaring the reconstruction of the Northern Pacific to be 'one of the most gratifying events of my life'."

Northern Pacific Railroad Stocks Dated 1876-97

AFNP1. Bearing the engraved portrait of Frederick Billings, the certificates of the Northern Pacific provide a wonderful example of the art of intaglio printing in the 19th century done by American or National Bank Note Co. $25 each

Jay Cooke

The nation was slowly healing its wounds and recovering from the disastrous effects of the Civil War. Visionaries of the period looked to the future and the opportunities available in a recovering nation's expansion. Naturally so, men of stout hearts looked west. Thus, it is no surprise that the man who successfully orchestrated the Union effort in selling bonds to finance the war turned his eye toward his next great challenge, the resurrection of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Jay Cooke arrived on the scene, successfully lobbying Congress for legislative change which would facilitate his grand plan for financing the construction of the road. Rising costs necessitated the need for constantly growing amounts of capital and Jay Cooke boldly took the lead. Ultimately, with Jay Cooke & Company's fortunes closely tied to the Northern Pacific Project, the firm failed and was forced into bankruptcy and in some part, contributed to the onset of the financial panic of 1873.

AFNP5. Jay Cooke Signed Stock, 1870's $600

AFNP6. Same but signed by both Jay Cooke and Jay Cooke, Jr. $700

SAINT PAUL & DULUTH RR

Originally incorporated in 1863 and known as the Lake Superior and Mississippi Railroad, the road provided the first service between Duluth and the Twin Cities upon its completion in 1870. Serving as the all-important eastern terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad, the road linked the Great Lakes and the Mississippi River. A victim of the panic of 1873, the company defaulted on its bonds and was reorganized in 1877 as the Saint Paul & Duluth Railroad. It was absorbed by the Northern Pacific in 1900. These exceptional stocks are beautifully printed by American Bank Note Company. The two Steamships and Locomotive scenes are so very impressive. A fine example of engraving of this Golden Era of Financial Printing.

THOMAS A. EDISON

THOMAS A. EDISON- EDISON PHONOGRAPH WORKS

AF27. Thomas Alva Edison (1847-1931), American Inventor. In his early years, he was slow in school. In 1879, he made commercially practicable the incandescent lamp. Other inventions included the kinetoscope, ore-mill machinery, the storage battery, and dictating machine. He invented the phonograph, his greatest single achievement from the viewpoint of inventive imagination. In 1888, he founded the "Edison Phonograph Works." Stock dated 1888 signed at front with ink cancellation line, issued to Edison and beautifully signed at back in error in pencil and signed over again on top as noted above. Very Rare! Exceptionally nice example! $2,700

AMERICAN EXPRESS CO

SAMUEL TILDEN-INDIANA SOUTHERN RWY

AF30. Samuel Tilden (1814-1886), Lawyer, Statesman, Financier. He opposed Lincoln's election and disapproved of the Civil War. He later became Democratic candidate for president of the U.S. (1876); received about 250,000 more votes than the Republican candidate, Rutherford B. Hayes, and 184 uncontested electoral votes against 163 for Hayes, with returns from Oregon, Louisiana, South Carolina, and Florida (carrying 22 electoral votes altogether) missing and not counted; an electoral commission was created by Congress (1877) to examine and report upon the contested returns in these states; the commission reported all the states in favor of Hayes, electing him president by one electoral vote. Tilden accepted the result to avoid civil war, but always maintained that he was wrongfully deprived of the election. DOES THIS ALL SOUND A BIT FAMILIAR? Uncancelled 1866 bond is signed by Tilden as Trustee at the back. Tilden is also noted at the front as Trustee. Exceptional Graphics!!! Several rows of coupons remain. Great for framing!!! A portrait is included. CHOICE CONDITION. (We found these in England 20 years ago.). $225 or 3 for $550

ANTONIO LOPEZ de SANTA ANNA-BOND

AF31. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, (1795?-1876), Mexican General, Revolutionist, President and Dictator. Santa Anna boldly signs this extremely graphic bond. It is without doubt the most impressive and ornate of all autographed stocks or bonds. This $500 bond was issued in 1866 from New York City while Santa Anna was living in exile. While he schemed to depose Emperor Maximilian, he issued these bonds in hopes of regaining power. In these attempts, he was captured and sentenced to death. Still, he was released and allowed to retire to New York and later when blind, he died in poverty and neglect. Of course, we remember him because of his success over the Texans at the Alamo and later his defeat and capture by Sam Houston at San Jacinto in 1836. Found in an old leather container in Texas, this American bond is fully issued, uncanceled, has no folds, has full margins, and is in Superb condition. $1,200

VAN HORNE

AF32. Stock signed by Van Horne as President of the Cuba Railroad Co., 1909-1915. Beautifully engraved by American Bank Note Company. Van Horne built the Canadian-Pacific Railway! He was involved with several American railroads, including the Chicago & Alton. The story of the building of the Canadian Pacific Railroad is mainly a history of his achievements in overcoming stupendous difficulties. Later, a visit to Cuba in 1900 fired his imagination with possibilities of a 350 mile railroad through the island. In 1902, the Cuba Railroad was opened for traffic, less than two years from the date of Van Horne's first visit to the island. His signature is bold and barely affected by the hole cancellation. Choice! $175 or 3 for $400

ANDREW CARNEGIE -UNITED STATES STEEL BOND

AF35. Andrew Carnegie (1835-1919), Manufacturer and Philanthropist. Began an illustrious career as a bobbin boy at age 13, then became a self taught telegrapher with the Pennsylvania Railroad. In 1853-65, he introduced use of the Pullman sleeping cars, organized the military telegraph department, and was active in transporting troops during the Civil War. After leaving the railroad, he focused on iron and then the steel industry.

His policy of "putting all his eggs in one basket, and then watching the basket" was extremely successful.

By 1889 steel production in the U.S. was first in the world, and in 1901 he sold his company, Carnegie Company to the U.S. Steel Corporation for $250 million. The Carnegie Foundation of New York donated millions to scientific research, the advancement of teaching, the furthering of international peace, and the reward of heroic acts. The foundation is well known for building public libraries. This historic bond is dated 1901, the very year that he sold his company. This beautiful $100,000 5% United States Steel Gold Bond is issued to Andrew Carnegie, but not signed. The rarity of Carnegie stocks and bonds is well known. Recently, two signed examples of this bond were sold to collectors at $125,000 per bond! Neatly stamp and hole cancelled. The graphics and cranberry red color are truly exceptional. Fresh Excellent Condition. A portrait of Carnegie is included. If we had to pick the top 10 US stocks or bonds of all time, this would be one of our top choices! $1,000

JAY GOULD-SAINT JOSEPH AND WESTERN RR CO

AF36. KS, 1879, Capital Stock, issued from Elwood, Kansas to Jay Gould (1836-1892) Financier. The St. Joseph and Western was originally chartered in 1857 as the Marysville, Palmetto and Roseport RR Company with its name being changed to the St. Joseph and Denver City RR in 1862. The line extended a distance of 252 miles from St. Joseph, Kansas to Grand Island, Nebraska connecting these two important mid-western America trade centers. The company went into receivership in 1874 and sold in foreclosure in November of 1875. In 1879, (the year of this stock certificate now offered), the road came under the control of the Union Pacific Railway Company which owned a large portion of the company's stocks and bonds. It thus operated as the St. Joseph and Western Division of the Union Pacific with Jay Gould, Russell Sage, and Sidney Dillon all serving as directors of the company.

Acquisition of the Saint Joseph and Western RR was part of Gould's strategy to compete with the Union Pacific. He acquired it for his Wabash system as a weapon against the Iowa pool, a system of price agreements among the would be direct competitors of Jay Gould.

Gould forced the Union Pacific to buy him out via a stock swap. He got UP stock of great value in exchange. He made something in the neighborhood of $7,000,000 on the deal. By 1890 he owned half of the railroad mileage in the Southwest. This stock is one of the most historic, colorful, and graphic of any signed by Jay Gould. $1,200

1870's Louisiana "Baby Bonds"

These 1870's bonds come with an interesting history. At the close of the Civil War, the federal government imposed a large tax on state bank notes. The state of Louisiana issued small bank notes and disguised them as interest-bearing bonds. These $5.00 "Baby Bonds" have a picture of a baby on the front. Thus the state avoided the tax. Everyone knew that they were worth the same as federally approved currency, so they were used throughout the state.

In the 1880's Louisiana's State Treasurer, Ed Bunker, had used the original plates to reprint these bonds with identical numbers. About $300,000 in counterfeit Baby Bonds were discovered in his safe deposit box. He fled to Brazil. These genuine $5.00 Baby Bonds each have their own serial number and Ed Bunker's facsimile signature. They make a great addition to any collection because of their size (5 1/2" x 3 1/4"), baby denomination, baby 7 1/2¢ coupons and charming vignette of a baby. AF98. Uncut sheet of 4 Bonds, uncanceled. $35
